Glasdon Heritage Kiosks

Problem Identified

Blackpool Borough Council have the typical climate associated with all coastal and exposed regions.

When looking to update their Attendants Kiosks at various local attractions including Crazy Golf courses and Public Parks, consideration had to be given to moving away from traditional building methods which are prone to weather-accelerated deterioration.

The Solution

There were a variety of requirements with which the Attendants Kiosks needed to comply:

- resistance to coastal weather conditions
- security while the kiosks are unattended
- fitting into the restricted space left by the previous kiosks
- minimal maintenance costs
- appearance to complement the existing architecture and the Council's corporate colours.

Glasdon were contacted and their Sales and Technical teams got to work straight away.

Although Glasdon offer a diverse range of standard "Heritage" style buildings, a more perfect solution was seen to be a specially designed, customised kiosk which would best accommodate the imposed size restriction of the project.

Resulting Benefits

The Glasdon Heritage range of small buildings are designed and manufactured with visual appeal in mind. Combining modern and low-maintenance materials together with maximum user-comfort, all of Blackpool Borough Council's requirements were met.

Manufactured from aluminium framework and GRP Heritage style panels and roof, maintenance is kept to a minimum. Blackpool Borough Council also chose a powder-coating to the framework and special panel colours to create an eye-catching appearance which complements their corporate theme and the surrounding architecture.

The security concerns were met by fitting robust and high-quality external roller shutters to cover all glazed areas and provide an effective deterrent for would-be vandals whilst the kiosks are left unattended.

WHAT THE CUSTOMER SAYS:

Mr Fred Rigby, Leisure Client Officer at Blackpool Borough Council said:

“We have found the Glasdon Heritage range to be the ideal solution for our needs and extremely good value for money.

Its design captures the visual quality of the past and blends in perfectly with the existing architecture and surroundings.

The old problem of the ongoing maintenance work associated with traditional building methods is now a thing of the past and we have significantly reduced the time and costs previously incurred by our maintenance department.”
