

Gateline Attendants' Kiosks & Staff Accommodation Buildings

Requirement Identified

London Overground Rail Operations Ltd (LOROL) is the Train Operating Company responsible for running the London Overground Network

LOROL had placed an order for 3 no. 'Fortress' Gateline Attendants' Kiosks and were visiting Glasdon to inspect the kiosks prior to delivery.

During the visit they viewed a special GRP (glassfibre reinforced polyester) ticket office that was awaiting delivery to King's Cross Station in London.

They were so impressed with the product quality and internal fit-out, it was proposed that this type of specialist building would be ideal for an upcoming requirement for staff accommodation buildings at eight more of their stations.

Solution

Mr Patrick Barry, Project Manager, subsequently contacted Glasdon to discuss the project. A design proposal, based upon a GRP modular building was then forwarded for comment and a final, bespoke solution was agreed to suit the exact requirements for the application.

A quotation was then issued based upon the final design, which included a kitchen, disabled toilet facilities and an office area.

Delivery of the Buildings was made to suit the client's installation schedule to ensure a co-ordinated and smooth completion.

Resulting Benefits

- The modular construction of Glasdon buildings allowed LOROL to specify accommodation to suit their exact requirements for different sites.
- The buildings are manufactured to structurally certified designs for a long life span with low maintenance.
- High quality internal fittings provide a comfortable working environment for staff.
- Delivery in fully assembled form allowed for quick installation and minimal disruption on site.
- The buildings can be relocated if site circumstances change in the future.

What the customer says...

"The Glasdon buildings are a vast improvement on our previous temporary cabins. We are very pleased with the vandal-resistance and finish of the buildings and we would be happy to use Glasdon products again should there be any requirements in the future."
